CONSUL TAYLOR DEAD.

The Well Known Representative of the U. S. Passes

Away.

WINNIPEG, May 1.—The lowering of many flags to half-mast late on Friday afternoon needed no explanation. The general surprise was that

United States Consul Taylor had passed away, and word from the general hospital soon confirmed the sad century. At about half past four o'clock in the afternoon, after a fortnight's confinement in the hospital, during a great portion of which period he has been in a semi-conscious condition, the venerable and universally beloved consul, peacefully sank into his death sleep.

To the public at large scattered throughout the province and to those further away the death of Consul

Taylor will be an unexpected blow.

Although over seventy three years of age he retained until near the last the brightness in manner, brilliancy in conversation, the alert mind, the active disposition which seemed to defy time and to guarantee a longer life. But to those who have been brought in more immediate contact with him during the last six or eight months it was evident that his ailments were of a serious nature, and that his constitution, robust as it had always been,

was rapidly breaking down under them.

That he perceived this clearly himself was evinced in the course of his speech at the St. Patrick's banquet which he stated would be his last public utterance. He also recently informed a friend that he would not live to see the Columbian exhibition.

World contains an excellent write-up of the Consulate district, by Spencer

Here is a problem for our mathematicians:—"Two women came to town having each 30 chickens. The first asked $1 a pair, the second $1 for three. A poultryer bought both lots giving the first woman $15, and the second woman $10, which made in all $25. He asked the women to give him the money back and said "Now, one of you sells your chickens at $1 per pair and the other at $1 for three; therefore you both sell yours at five for $2." They agreed to sell them in that way. Five is contained in 60, twelve times; twelve times $2 = $24. "Do figures lie?"

The addition of new sleeping cars, tourist cars, first-class carriages, etc., to the rolling stock of the Canadian Pacific railway is a matter of such constant occurrence that little mention of it is made, but the latest addition seems to call for some notice as a matter of public interest. Twelve new sleeping cars are now added to company's stock. Some of these have already been put on the road, and the others are approaching completion. The "Bliss" and "Calcutta," now in service, coming between Montreal and Toronto, are fair samples of the others, and they are improvements both in finish and comfort on any of the older cars. The body of the car is divided by two elaborately carved arches, and the private stateroom is made more complete than heretofore in toilet arrangements. The upholstery is in muted tones and the carving of the woodwork is a triumph of art. The company has also put on the road a number of tourist cars for the World's Fair traffic. The cars are except in decoration, equal to ordinary sleeping cars.

CANADA-AUSTRALIA.

New Steamship Line Established by the C.P.R.

WINNIPEG, May 3.—It can now be readily seen that great wisdom was displayed in pushing the Canadian Pacific railway to completion through to the Pacific coast. Through the establishment of a steamship service between Vancouver and China and Japan a large business has been worked up for the line, and a trade with the Orient has been opened up, which it is safe to say has already been of material benefit to every part of the country. The encouraging results from the China service have decided the C.P.R. upon the advisability of once placing steamers on the line to Australia, a scheme which has been in contemplation for some time, and which in the next few days the pioneer of the Australian fleet will leave Sydney for Vancouver. Until their new ships are completed the company have chartered steamers which have been running in the passenger and freight service between London and the Australian colonies, and it is their intention to have a monthly service from each and in the meantime, the first vessel leaving Sydney on the 18th of May, calling at Brisbane, Honolulu (the capital of the Hawaiian Islands), and reaching Vancouver about the ninth of June. The sailing dates from Vancouver will be the 14th of each month, the first ship leaving on the 14 proximo. With the exception of the "Empresses" the steamers which will perform this service are probably the finest on the Pacific, and are far superior to anything trading to San Francisco, as their sailing schedule will show, the time to Vancouver being between four and five days less than the steamers take to San Francisco, though the distance is between two and three hundred miles greater.

In opening the service at this time the company have displayed that remarkable foresight which is sure to make this undertaking, like all others, a conspicuous success, as the number of Australians who intend coming to the World's Fair, and Europeans who will take the American route on their homeward journey, is sure to be something enormous, and there is hardly a doubt that with such a service, the greater portion of this business will travel over the Canadian Pacific. Aside from the benefit which must undoubtedly accrue from the passage of many business men, and wealthy globe travellers across our country, the undertaking is one from which Canadian may in a national way anticipate the most favorable results. Though at present the exchange of products between the two countries is not perhaps of such volume as it might be, yet this probably has been from the want of direct communication. With the letter now provided it will give Canada a powerful advantage in the struggle for commercial ascendancy and at any rate will enable Canadians to compete for a share of the carrying trade, not only between Australia and American continent, but at a large part of the business passing over to the old world.
